Who's Hot!

Sean Avery

Don't let his looks fool you — L.A. Kings forward Sean is unstoppable on the ice. The Toronto native began training early for his NHL career. "As soon as you start walking, they put a stick in your hands," jokes Sean, 26. Currently dating actress Elisha Cuthbert, Sean says the busy couple maintain their relationship by "talking as much as we can. I'm lucky to have her." — KATIE PERRY

Carnie went from a size 28 to a size 6.

Carnie loses it!

Eight years ago, Carnie Wilson shed 150 pounds after gastric bypass surgery, and last year she dropped 22 more on VH1's Celebrity Fit Club. Now she's turned to ReFirme, a noninvasive collagen-boosting procedure, to lose the extra skin. "I didn't want a face-lift; I'm too young," the 38-year-old tells OK! exclusively. "It feels like I've lost five pounds!" In addition to being a mom to baby Lola, 1, the singer is writing an autobiography and working on a pilot for her own cooking show.

Paris exposed, again

If you thought Paris Hilton was already overexposed, think again! The heiress' personal belongings are available for viewing on a Web site after she failed to pay a $208 storage bill for items she had stored in L.A. in 2004. The items were sold to an unidentified buyer and then to David Hans Schmidt and Bardia Persa, who posted the treasures on the site. Among the goodies? Tapes featuring a nude Paris. But despite the incriminating material, Paris doesn't mind the controversy. "She lives to have people talk about her," a source tells OK!. "And it won't hurt her acting career — she's not Helen Mirren." A rep for Paris tells OK!, "Paris' legal representatives are dealing with the matter appropriately."
